

Jaq Davies

Untitled* – The Corner Store Gallery

March 15 - 26

Jaq Davies is a multidisciplinary artist who studied painting at the National Art School in Darlinghurst. She now lives and works in the Central West NSW.

Much of Jaq's work is autobiographical and combines sculpture, painting, drawing and found objects. She creates works suspended in a place between reality and the abstract, works with their own distinct visual language wrapped around stories.

These works look at landscape in ever changing lights within the quiet rhythm of the passing of time. The use of blocks of fabric or board at the bottom of the artwork has a solidity that plays with the lightness of line in the painted areas.

It is these tensions within the artwork that allows them to find their place of balance.
